

Contributors

Chung Ok-nim

A research fellow at the Sejong Institute. Chung received a Post-doctoral Fellowship at the Asia/Pacific Research Center, Stanford University, from 1995 to 1996, and was a research fellow at the Brookings Institution. She holds a B.A. and an M.A. from Korea University and Ph.D. in Political Science from the same university. She is an author of The Origins and Evolution of the Japanese-American Alliance: A Korean Perspective, Security Mutualism in Northeast Asia, and The Security Perspective of the Korean Peninsula.

Cho Yong-kyun

A professor at the Institute of Foreign Affairs and National Security, he is former assistant professor at ChoongAng University. He received his B.A. and M.A. from Seoul National University, and a Ph.D. in Economics from Vanderbilt University. His major articles include "Korea's Policy for the Launch of a New Round," "Northeast Asian Collaboration toward a Global Environmental System," and "Economic Cooperation between the Two Koreas: Sources of Investment in North Korea."

Lee Nam-ju

A professor in the Department of Chinese Studies at Sungkonghoe University. He holds a B.A. and an M.A. from Seoul National University, and a Ph.D. in Political Science from Beijing University. His major articles include "Fragmented Market Structure and Industrial Policy of Technology," "China's Entry into the WTO and the Future: the Development and Limits of China's Marketism," among others.

Nam Sung-wook

A lecturer at Korera University and the Graduate School of Ewha Womens University. He holds a B.A. and an M.A. in Economics from Korea University and a Ph.D. in Economics from University of Missouri-Columbia. His major articles include "Prospects of Grain Production Consumption and Trade in North Korea: 1961-1997," "A Study on the Presumption of North Korea's Market," "A Study on the North Korea's Short-Commons and Changing of Populations: 1961-1998," among others.

Kang Weon-sik

Currently, a professor in the Department of North Korean Studies at Kwandong University. Kang is former research fellow of the Korean Institute of National Unification. He received his B.A., M.A. and Ph.D. in Political Science from Hanyang University, and also received a Ph.D. from Moscow State University. He is the author of Measures of Building Peace on the Korean Peninsula, What means Russia to Korea, Rossiia i Koreya na poroge 21 veka, and wrote "North Korean Nuclear Problem and Security Environment of NEA," "Korean Policy toward Kim Jong-il Regime."

Lee Soo-hyung

Lee is a lecturer at Hankuk University of Foreign Studies and the Catholic University of Korea. he has a B.A. and an M.A. from Hankuk University of Foreign Studies, and a Ph.D. in Political Science from the same University. His recent works include: "NATO's Security Dilemma in Cold War Era: Based on the Abandonment-Entrapment Model," "A study on NATO's multilateral Combined Joint Task Forces and Collective Security," and "European Security Issues and NATO's Arms Control Policy: A Case study on MBFR."