

Contributors

Park Doo-bok

Residing professor at the Institute of Foreign Affairs and National Security. Specializing in Chinese politics, Park Doo-bok has written many books including China and the Korean War, Recent Sino-Soviet Relations, and Politics and Economy in China. He holds a B.A. and an M.A. in Political Science from Kyunghee University and received his Ph.D. from the Chinese Culture University.

Park Jong-chul

A senior research fellow at the Korea Institute for National Unification, he received his B.A., an M.A., and a Ph.D in Political Science from Korea University. He was a visiting scholar at the Center for International Affairs, Harvard University from 1997 to 1998. His research interests are inter-Korean relations, international security, and arms control. His publications include Missile Talks between the U.S. and North Korea, and South Korea's Response, and Strategy of the Four-Party Talks: Focus on the Operation of Subcommittees.

Kim Chan-woo

As the Director of the Environmental Cooperation Division, Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Trade, Kim Chan-woo has been dedicated to environmental issues for a long time. He holds a B.A. in English from Hankuk University of Foreign Studies, and a M.Phil. in Social and Political Theory from Cambridge University in the U.K. His major articles include "An Analysis of the Applicability of Rawls's A Theory of Justice to Korea," (M.Phil. thesis) and "Korea's Status in Multilateral Environmental Agreements."

Cheong In-kyo

A research fellow at Korea Institute for International Economic Policy. He received his Ph.D. in economics from Michigan State University, majoring in economic integration, international economics, and general equilibrium trade modeling, and a B.A. in economics from Hanyang University. He is the author of Economic Effects of China's WTO Accession and Policy Implications, and wrote "Economic Effects of Korea-Japan FTA and Policy Implications," and "How to Cope with the Expansion of RTAs?"

Lim Kang-taeg

Dr. Lim is serving as a research fellow at the Korea Institute for National Unification. He received his B.A. and an M.A. from Chung-Ang University and a Ph.D. in Economics from the State University of New York at Albany. His major articles include "Characteristics of North Korea's Foreign Trade and Prospect of Its Policy on Foreign Trade," "The Effect of the North Korea's Military-Industry Policy on Its Economy," "The Prospect of North Korea's Policy on Openness and Economic Reform," among others.

Ahn Byung-min

A Research Associate at the Korea Transport Institute, he received his Ph.D. in Political Science from the University of Tsukuba. He is the author of Plan for Comprehensive Transport System on the Korean Peninsula in Preparation for Unification, and wrote "Reconnection of Railroads Linking the Two Koreas," and "Effects of the Trans Korea Railway in Activating Trans Siberian Railway."