

Contributors

Oh Il-whan

Research professor at Asia-Pacific Research Center, Hanyang University. Holds a Ph.D. in Political Sociology from University of Paris X, formerly, a research fellow at the Institute of Unification Policy, Hanyang University. His publications include North Korean Politics and Economy in the Kim Jong-il Era (1999), A Study of the Current North Korean Regime (2000), and The Odyssey of Social Science (2001). He has also written many articles.

Kim Soo-am

Senior researcher at Korea Institute for National Unification (KINU), he holds a B.A. from Seoul National University and a Ph.D. from the same university. His major works include The Initial Phase of Unified Korea (KINU, 1997), and "International Human Rights Instruments and North Korea's Attitude," among others.

Shalendra D. Sharma

Associate professor in the Department of Political Science at the University of San Francisco, where he has taught since 1993, he holds a Ph.D. in Political Science from the University of Toronto (Canada). He edited Asia in the New Millennium: Geopolitics, Security and Foreign Policy (2000), and wrote Development and Democracy in India (1999) and numerous articles.

Park Ji-hyun

Senior researcher at Korea Institute for International Economic Policy, she received her M.A. in Economics from Chung-Ang University. Her major articles include "WTO New Round: Preparing for Negotiations on Agriculture," "The Cost of Protection in the Agricultural Market in Korea and Its Implications," and "The Current Status of the WTO Agriculture Dispute and Its Implications for Korea," among others.

Suh Jae-jean

Director of the Center for North Korea's Human Rights Studies, Korea Institute for National Unification, he is also interlocking professor at the Graduate School of North Korea Studies, Kyungnam University. He received a B.A. in Sociology from Seoul National University, and a Ph.D. in Sociology from the University of Hawaii. He authored The Second Society in North Korea (1995), From Food Shortage to IT Industry: Changing North Korea (2001), and A New Perspective on the Formation and Change of Juche Thought in North Korea (2001).

Nam Sung-wook

Professor in the Department of North Korean Studies, Korea University, he holds a B.A. and an M.A. from Korea University, and a Ph.D. from the University of Missouri-Columbia in Applied Economics. Formerly, he was an associate professor at the Graduate School of National Information. His major articles include "Factors of Grain Production and Grain Consumption in North Korea," and "Theory and Practice: Kaesong and Inter-Korean Economic Cooperation," among others.