

Contributors

Yoon Taeyoung

Research Professor at the Institute of East and West Studies, Yonsei University. He holds a Ph.D. in International Politics from Manchester Metropolitan University, UK. His research interests include East Asian Security, Crisis Management, and Intelligence Studies. His major articles include "Terrorism and Crisis Management: The Rangoon Bombing Incident of 1983," and "North Korea's Nuclear Program and U.S. Coercive Diplomacy: With Special Reference to the Carrot-and-Stick Approach."

Hong Soon-jick

A Research Fellow at the Center for the Reunified Korean Economy of Hyundai Research Institute. He has worked for many years at the institute, specifically in currency finance and North Korean economy. He holds an M.A. in Economic Policy from Chungang University, and has written many articles, including "Developing the Kaesong Industrial Area: Economic Effects and Future Tasks (2003)," and "The Nuclear Crisis and its impact on Mt. Kumgang Tourism Project (2003)."

Jing-dong Yuan

A Senior Research Associate at the Center for Nonproliferation Studies, Monterey Institute of International Studies, where he is also an adjunct professor, he teaches Chinese politics and East Asia security and arms control issues at the Institute's Graduate School of International Policy Studies. He received his Ph.D. in Political Science from Queen's University, and his research focuses on Asia-Pacific security, global and regional arms control and nonproliferation issues, US foreign policy, and China's defense and foreign policy. He is the co-author of China and India: Cooperation or Conflict? (2003).

Lee Jong-woon

A researcher at the Korea Institute for International Economic Policy. He received his M.A. in International Development Studies from Saint Mary's University. He also studied IPE in the graduate program of the Political Science Department at the University of Toronto. His recent publications include "North Korea's Trade Expansion with Western Countries in the Early 1970's and Its Implications on North Korea's Current Attempts at Economic Rehabilitation" (2002), and "The IT Industry in the Hermit Kingdom: Instrumental for North Korea's Economic Rehabilitation and Inter-Korean Cooperation?"

Doh Hyun-jae

Research Fellow at the Korea Energy Economics Institute, specializing in regulatory reform, pricing policy, and international energy cooperation issues. He received a B.A. from the University of Wisconsin at Madison and Ph.D. in economics from Sogang University. His major articles include "Price Discrimination and Consumer Arbitrage," "Introducing Competition and Natural Gas Industry in Korea," and "Fair Return on Equity for City Gas Companies."

Nam Chang-hee

A Professor of Political Science, Inha University, and formerly a research fellow at the Korea Institute for Defense Analysis. He holds a B.A. in Political Science from Yonsei University, and a Ph.D. from the University of Kansas at Lawrence. He majored in East Asian Studies and Korean Studies. He wrote "Shaping the Future under the Shadow of the Past" (2002), and co-authored Understanding Contemporary Japanese Politics (2002), among others.